

Selling Suits at Half Price

The above announcement is true in every respect and is proving a source of saving to many of our patrons. Many of these Suits we were advised to keep until next Fall, as the styles are similar to what are being made for Fall trade, but that would be violating our most stringent rule: "never to carry stocks over to the next season." But with you it's different. There is no reason in the world why you shouldn't buy a Suit, or a Jacket, or a Skirt now—one that you can use a lot this Summer and still find it pre-eminently fashionable for next Fall. Remember you can buy them cheaper now than we can. There are only a few, so hurry.

With a perfect system of ventilation and an excellent program, comfortable seats, and polite attendants, make the Comique a delightful amusement resort and cooling-off place during the summer. The character of the entertainments has suffered no change, and the policy of the Roach Bros. inaugurated with the opening of this pretty theatre, to provide only first class, clean and refined offerings is more in evidence every day.

Twenty or more delegates to the Republican state convention in Montpelier to-day who arrived in the neighboring city last night only to find no hotel accommodations for them, came to Barre by late trolley and secured quarters. As it happened, the Barre hotels were pretty well filled up, too; but all the arrivals found accommodations in some place or other, and made an early start for the convention this morning.
